As One Goes Around

It was a great quartet—Chief of Police W. J. Quinn, of San Francisco; Mark Noon, Secretary of the State Prison Board, Monsignor Frank McElroy, founder of St. Vincent's, near San Rafael, and affectionately known to thousands of boys as "Father Frank," and myself. We used to get together at St. Vincent's. All of us knew crime stems from wayward youth and that subject usually came up. Chief Quinn had done a great work among bad boys when he was head of the San Francisco Police Department; Mark Noon could spot the "irreclaimable" hoodlum as soon as he passed through the gates of San Quentin. "Father Frank" was one of the extremely few church dignitaries, engaged in trying to save boys, who did not hold to the unsustainable belief "There is no such thing as a bad boy." He was a realist in humanity and understood the unwiseness of coddling crime-headed youths. The talks we had were based on cold, first-hand experience; theory was treated simply as theory should be, and as I look back at the sessions over on the porch of St. Vincent's, not by sideline specialists, but by men who knew tough kids at all stages, I believe I can tell you the opinion of the four of us—two are now dead—was the great growth in incorrigibility among boys and girls starts first with parents, who permit their children (to free themselves of the bother of looking after them) to run wild, especially at night. Next is providing teen-agers cars to tear around in. A great crime build-up is giving youth too much money. While a vicious thing for parents to consent to is to allow their daughters to smoke and the climax in the destruction of control of boys and girls, is the crime movie they all eat up. These are not old-fashioned prejudices. I am but relating to you convictions held by men who for years studied and watched the ever-increasing growth of wasted youthful lives, helped on by lack of strength of character of parents who, eventually, are responsible for the tragic after-year plights of their children.

I cannot recall how long I knew him as a room clerk. For years he had been with the St. Francis Hotel and it was not long ago he was advanced to an Assistant Managership. I have many times marveled at the even temper of Albert R. Sang. He would, with a pleasant face and happy mannerism, stand and listen to some irate man or woman patron, with whom something had gone wrong, and take all the unkind things these ill-mannered people sought to rid themselves of. Nothing appeared to ruffle him and I grew to be possessed of the belief nothing could provoke him to such an extent he would become involved in an altercation. However, during the Holidays a man was observed annoying a woman patron at the St. Francis and Al Sang, as any man would, interposed and in a scuffle, was injured and died. It does not seem so very long ago since Al Sang came to me about going to a Veterans' Hospital for an operation—Al Sang was a veteran of the First World War and he wanted to have everything prepared. I remember a remark he made at the time: "No one knows when his number is coming up." I am quite certain Al Sang was in that frame of mind when he interposed as he did to protect a woman, but, even if he had contradictory feelings at the time, he would not have hesitated, as, although small in stature, Al Sang in no way lacked courage.

For 25 years I have had a friend who has been the patient of a San Francisco doctor. The Doctor was an able physician and had done a great deal to help his patient. He had made a study of the man's case and he had prepared a medicine himself and he furnished his patient regular supplies of the medicine. Right from the start the San Francisco doctor's preparation brought a betterment in the man he was treating. Regularly his bills were paid and the patient was very well satisfied. It was not long ago the man being treated, observing his aged Doctor was in bad shape physically, said to him: "Doctor, I am wondering if you could not see your way clear to provide me with a prescription so I might, in the event anything happened to you, be able to get medicine like you have been giving me? I do not see how I could get along without it." The old Doctor hesitated and then he said: "I do not think that would be a good thing to do. No, I do not think I will do so." It was not very long after that the San Francisco Doctor died and, since that time his patient of 25 years has been compelled to get along without the medicine that had been so long helping him, but he is not doing so well.

That was a horrid thing for the old Doctor to do. It seems to me, when my time comes to die, it would leave me better satisfied if I knew the good I had been doing was not to die with me, but that, instead, somewhere over beyond the Styx, I might be wafted knowledge that, even after death, I was continuing to be helpful to my fellow man.

He lived up in my old country. In fact he made his home, while not going over the world, at Frying Pan Creek, near Florence, Douglas county, Oregon. I am speaking of John Patrick, who lately wrote the big seller novel, "Why Japan Was Strong." There was a sort of comaraderie between us. He had started out and later made his remarkable tour of Japan, just as I was called back from Manila. He knew a lot of folks out there I did. John Patrick was opposed to President Roosevelt almost as strongly as I am. He smoked a lot of cigarettes as he sat in the office when he was here and he made a lot over my Shepherd dog and, as he left me, after explaining all the complications the New Dealers were going to get us into by the first of the year—John Patrick did not believe we would be harmed after January 1, as he felt firmly convinced Dewey would win. He stopped petting my dog and shook my hand a long time and, on starting away he said: "Don't forget, A. R. We will beat Roosevelt and then the Japs." John's crystal gazing was not so good in the start, but I am praying he will do better in the end, hoping we may, at least, get a dog-fall.

FORT BRAGG, Jan. 16.—Last week Otis R. Your effort, as shown by your remarkable production record, has helped our country along the road to victory. May I extend to you men and women of the Fort Bragg plant of the Union Lumber Company my congratulations for accomplishing more, than once seemed reasonable or possible. In conferring this award, the Army and Navy will give you a flag to fly above your plant, and will present to every individual within it a label pin symbolic of leadership on the production front."

This constitutes the first Army-Navy "E" Award made to any of the California Redwood Producers and has been earned by less than three percent of the plants producing war goods in the nation.

Crushed Between Logs.

William E. McClendon, 46, a woodsman, met with a fatal injury about 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning while working in the logging woods of the Union Lumber Company above Camp Two, Ten Mile. It is reported Mr. McClendon was prying a cut log, and when it released its position, another log rolled in, pinning him against the log he was working on, causing injuries from which he died soon after, while enroute to the hospital in an ambulance.

nounced. He was decorated at an advanced American base in the Pacific. When heavy fire from a Japanese pillbox on Saipan threatened the success of a landing there, Lieutenant Carver "ignored the danger of exposing himself to the enemy's fire and led his platoon in quickly rendering the Japanese position ineffective," the citation accompanying the medal said. A former all-around athlete at the University of California, Lieutenant Carver is a member of the Fourth Marine Division. His wife and two-year-old son live in Santa Rosa.

Head of GG Bridge

A. R. O'BRIEN, publisher of the Ukiah Republican (Weekly) Press, director Redwood Empire Association, and prominent political and civic leader of Mendocino county, has been elected president of the board of directors Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District for the year 1945. Mr. O'Brien was formerly president of the State Board of Prison Directors.

Built at a cost of $35,000,000 the Golden Gate Bridge today serves as a vital factor in conduct of the War in addition to being an important factor in civilian and industrial transportation in California and the Pacific west.

President O'Brien has been a member of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board the past 17 years and most of that time has been Chairman of the important Roads and Traffic committee.

Honor Appreciated.

The election of Director O'Brien as President of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District is greatly appreciated by him, because of the fact it is the first time the Presidency has been bestowed on a director other than one coming from San Francisco and it was a very generous gesture of the San Francisco Board members, who wield control of Bridge policies, and was supported by the San Francisco members unanimously.

Runs Two Years.

The term of President O'Brien runs two years.

SAVINGS BANK FINE SHOWING

Remarkable Increase Reflected By The Institution

A study of the statement of the Savings Bank of Mendocino County published in the last issue discloses a condition that merits some comment. The increase in dollar wealth in this community is here reported beyond any doubt.

A Big Increase.

The deposits in this local bank have increased almost 40 percent since the last published statement, June 30, 1944. On that date they were four million three hundred thousand dollars and are now over six million dollars, an increase of over one million seven hundred thousand dollars. During this same six-month period the bank has sold to individuals, for the government, over five hundred thousand dollars in bonds. The bank is in a very liquid and healthy condition and is doing its full part in fighting this war.

Has Helped Showing.

Aside from the time the employes are giving to selling bonds and other public welfare work the bank has invested in government bonds almost four and one-half million dollars.

WILL INSIST UPON ACTION BY THE STATE

Delegation Will Be In Sacramento To Make Request

WANT TUNNEL RELIEF

Big Contingent Asks Commissioners For New Freeway

The Directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District will appear before the State Highway Commissioners tomorrow at Sacramento and seek to have the Highway Commission co-operate with the Bridge District by taking the proposed Sausalito Freeway into the State Highway system, in order to provide road funds with which to build a new route to the Golden Gate Bridge so users may escape the present costly six percent Waldo tunnel grade the State Highway Commissioners imposed on the Golden Gate bridge.

Long Was Handicapped.

Ever since the bridge was opened to traffic, it has been hampered by the Waldo Approach with its six percent grade rising nearly 370 feet above the bridge level. For years every interest in the Redwood Empire has been asking the State Highway Commission to take over this short stretch of highway, make it a part of California's primary highway system, and construct a low level approach to the Bridge. The Golden Gate Bridge is actually part of a great highway extending all along the continent from Alaska to Mexico, and a weakness of one link weakens the usefulness of the entire highway. Representatives of San Francisco county, the Bridge District and the entire Redwood Empire will tomorrow again ask the Highway Commission to build the Golden Gate Bridge Freeway, Northern Approach, as another and strengthening highway to the bridge.

Is Out Of Line.

As everyone who travels from the Redwood Empire to San Francisco knows, the main approach to the bridge from the north is the so-called Waldo Approach, a four-lane highway with a six percent grade. This is inadequate for military traffic, inadequate for traffic to and from the Marinship shipyards, inadequate for buses, inadequate for trucks, costly in consumption of gasoline and upkeep of motor vehicles and, because of fog and slides, frequently dangerous. Why this approach, which rises to an elevation of 608 feet before dropping more than 350 feet to bridge level, was built is of only historical interest now.

Forced On Directors.

The truth, however, is it was forced on the Bridge Directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District by the Highway Commissioners over the protest of the directors of the Bridge.

Has Bad Flaw.

The important fact is this gigantic link in a great highway system extending along the Pacific Coast from Canada to Mexico is weak! And since the first year of the Golden Gate Bridge's operation, the people of the Golden Gate Bridge District and the Redwood Empire have been aware of that weakness and have been constantly urging the State Highway Commission to make this section a part of the State Highway system—and build another approach to the Bridge.

Will Take Part In Span Demand

President A. R. O'Brien, of the Golden Gate Bridge District, leaves this morning for Sacramento where Director O'Brien will participate in making the demand for building the Golden Gate Freeway when it comes before the State Highway Commisson tomorrow at the Capital. Director H. J. Feheley, of Del Norte county met the O'Briens here and went on to Sacramento with them. All of the Bridge directors, Redwood Empire Association members, Supervisors, leaders from the nine counties composing the Redwood Empire Association territory will be on hand to impress on the Highway Commissioners the urgency of the need for a properly constructed lateral. John L. McNab will be in Sacramento and will make the main address on behalf of the Bridge District.

WILLITS, Jan. 15.—Conflicting OPA regulations have caused all kinds of trouble since Val Peterson opened his Frozen Foods Lockers. It all revolves around who can and who cannot kill meat at home and preserve it for their own use. There being a difference of opinion among ration board officials as to OPA rules on the subject, Mr. Peterson talked to an officer in the San Francisco office who was said to be in charge of that department. This man stated all stockraisers who wanted to kill meat at home for their own use must get permits to do so.

The Other Angle.

This ruling was in direct contradiction to the rules in the local ration board and it appears the official who gave the opinion was in error. The rule on this question is: No permit is required where meat is killed by farmers who raise the animals on their own place and who intend to consume the meat at home. Of course, if any of the meat is to be sold, ration points must then be collected and turned in, and the farmer must proceed with a permit from the ration board.

Willits Girl Weds.

Miss Gloria Mitchell, former Willits girl, and Captain Lewis Nelson, Army Air Corps, were married at an elaborate ceremony at the Santa Cruz Methodist Church. To Operate Canteen.

A Teen-Age Canteen will be opened here shortly. The movement is being sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club, with assistance of American Legion, P. T. A., Lions Club, Fire Department and other groups.

The Railroad Payroll.

The railroad payroll reached a new high for the year ending December 31. The N. W. P. here paid employes $248,470.99 and the Fort Bragg railroad paid out $11,386.59 to the section crew that attends to this end of the line.

Bought City Lots.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McDaniel have purchased a house and two lots on Franklin street. Whitney & Reynolds made the sale.

Raymond Tuck has been here visiting relatives. He has just returned from the South Pacific.

IGNORANT AMERICAN

Midpacifican (Armed Forces Newspaper in the Pacific Ocean)

THREE DISPATCHES JUST CAME IN from Army News Service.

Two will make you proud.

One will make you angry.

The first, datelined Washington, reveals that a single A. J. A. division in Italy was awarded 1,000 Purple Hearts. The second, datelined France, reports how the "lost battalion" in the Saint Dies area was rescued by American soldiers of Japanese ancestry who fought their way through to the trapped men.

The third, datelined Poston, Ariz., tells how a crippled A. J. A. was ejected from a barbershop because the proprietor didn't like his ancestry. The G. I. was Pvt. Raymond Matsuda, 29, from Hawaii. He had served two years with the 442nd combat team in Italy. He wears seven campaign ribbons and decorations, including the Purple Heart.

The action of one ignorant American brings shame to all of us.

His ignorance is dangerous.

It stabs at the heart of the things for which we fight.

G. I.s who kill Japanese on Pacific battlefronts can tell you why they feel friendship for the A. J. A.s fighting in Italy.

They're brother Americans.

G. I.'s who kill Nazis know they continue to like and respect German-Americans now fighting at their side in Europe.

They're Americans and buddies.

We don't make war on people because of the color of their skin, or hair, or the shape of their faces or the nationality of their fathers and mothers.

We fight for an idea.

And we fight against an idea.

We kill Fascists because it's our idea that people from every race and of every tongue should keep on living in our country as good neighbors.

We kill Fascists because they think their race or blood makes them better than other people.

We fight for our idea because it is the cement that holds democracy together. We fight against the Fascist idea because it is the poison that holds our enemies together.

G. I.s know that the only difference between our enemies and our friends is what goes on in their minds.

The ignorant American from Poston, Ariz., is one of a few rotten apples in the big barrel of America. His thinking does not reflect the way America thinks.

He probably doesn't even realize he thinks like our enemies.

But he does.

Misguided people, such as he, parrot the racial ideas of the Nazis and the Japs.

As long as they do, they constitute a menace to our country.

It would be foolish for any G. I. to feel that Fascism will be wiped out with the defeat of Germany and Japan.

The job will not be done until all Americans are educated to think and act like Americans.

That's our job, too.

YOU CANNOT MAKE IT

THE PAPERS THESE DAYS carry many stories about boys under 18 running away from their homes to join some branch of the service. In practically every case failure ends their episode.

"Misguided patriotism which induces 15 and 16-year-old youths to run away to try to join the armed services only leads to trouble for the boy but costs the state money." This statement was made by Probation Officer Fred S. Byerly, of Chico, after disposing of the case of a run-away Marysville youth.

"Leaving home is a serious mistake, as the boy causes the parents many anxious hours of worry and he loses on much of his schooling. Though attempting to enter the service is a worthy and patriotic motive, it is impossible to join, for all branches of the armed forces require a boy to present his birth certificate proving he is 17 years of age or over," Mr. Byerly continued. "For example, take this case of the youth from Marysville, who ran away from home Wednesday to join the Seabees. This boy had a friend in the Seabees who inspired him to join the service. During Christmas vacation, a pal from Chico stayed at his home in Marysville and they decided to leave home and join the service. The Marysville boy left Wednesday and headed for Chico to stay for a day or two with his friend. When he left home, his parents had Sheriff McCoy, of Marysville, send out an alarm for him. Sheriff McCoy thought he might be with his friend in Chico so he contacted Chief of Police C. E. Tovee, Friday, who sent a patrol car to the Chico boy's home.

"The police learned the boys were at the theatre and picked the Marysville boy up at 8:20 p. m. He was held in the city jail until his father, a farmer, arrived from Marysville Saturday.

"When the lad was brought in the office, it seemed his father was the last person in the world he wanted to see, although the father greeted his son warmly. When the desk sergeant asked the boy if he liked his home, he answerd in bitter tones, 'It's o.k.'

"By running away he lost a week of school, caused his parents endless worry, cost California taxpayers many dollars, and still was not able to join any branch of the service. Our government wants every boy to get as much schoolings as possible so that when he does go into the service he can give the greatest service to his country," Mr. Byerly stated.

TRAVELOGUE

(BY E. V. A. MURPHEY)

New Year has come and gone, and traveling officials are beginning to put in appearances. In getting the news of Indian Service on various Reservations, I am impressed with the growing number of women who have left the Indians and have gone over to the Wacs, or wherever they can be of the most use. It is always with a pang of envy that one hears such news. Some one has to keep the home fires burning, but it gives a sad feeling of being on the side-lines, instead of in stirring action.

The Wyoming State Journal publishes letters from servicemen, and one from a young Lander Major, tells about being in France and having two stenographers. One was a French girl, who said "Oui" to everything, and the other was a Sioux from South Dakota. She was fast, accurate and easy to look at. His Colonel stole her from him, and now, he wails, he can't even get a man to replace her. The French girl disappeared.

In calling my memory roll of young Indian girl graduates of Indian boarding schools there are hardly any single girls who are not serving Uncle Sam, either as nurses or dietitians in hospitals, or with Wacs or Marines.

The one who had the least chance to begin with, to my mind, was a girl from Death Valley. She was always capable, dependable and willing to interpret for the old people. She graduated from Carson Indian School last May, and soon after enlisted as a Wac, and is stationed at Great Falls, Montana, at an Army Air Base.

The Oregonian recently had an article entitled, "He has a boy with MacArthur"; this was to boost the Sixth War Loan drive. Whereat a father wrote in "What about the girls?" for, as he put it, "Our Wac is with Mac." She was a college graduate, but chose to be a Wac and went into basic training. Her country was looking for her, and she emerged from officers' training school at Oglethorpe, Ga., a second lieutenant who wanted overseas duty and got it. "Then came a postal," her father writes, "with her name, serial number and APO number. We waited and waited —and then, bless her, she was with the first contingent of Wacs sent to Australia. So we will buy a bond for her." She was transferred to the Far Eastern Air Force at Port Moresby and then to Hollandia. "Jungle rot," comments her father, "heat, rain, mosquitoes—so we will buy another bond for her, and because of the nurses and women who are now abroad. And now," he concludes, "they broadcast that a contingent of Wacs has arrived at Leyte. Child of ours may be with them—who knows? So we will buy a bond again for her."

What a place for an American girl, yet a place that only an American girl can fill. The Oregonian offered its apologies for unintentional neglect. He has a girl with MacArthur and perhaps on Leyte where the Jap planes swoop, and the typhoon comes with cascades of tropical rain. One blames him not in the least for his pride. God keep her, and bring her safely home.

TRIBUTE TO THE AMERICAN LIVESTOCKMAN
(National Woolgrower)

He went west with America—and he built that West.
He enriches all States with his flocks and herds and droves.
His sharp eyes know meat on the hoof, know weather, and know real men.
He knows the land and he loves
it.
He builds America with food.
He is up at night like a doctor
when his stock ails.
He'll trek miles through a blizzard to rescue a snowbound flock or herd.
He may go out with a lantern at two a.m. to see if the new pigs are comfortable.
His opinion is worth having. His word is as good as his bond.
In his home on the range, his chuck wagon in the hills, or his big red barn, he calls no man, Boss.
His chores are many, but his time is his own.
When he thinks he's right, he'll stick to his guns until the cows come home.
When he's wrong, he admits it.
When he shakes your hand,
he means it.
When he says he will, he will.
When he says he won't, he won't.
He's the American stockman.
When better cattle, sheep and horses are raised, he'll raise them.

COURAGE
(By Jane Sayre)

She wove a warp of courage upon her loom of days
And wove her love in cross threads of gratitude and praise.
In faith she tended weaving, and spliced the woof with song, Aware that on her day loom the warp thread must be strong.
The color of her living, when woven, was as fine
As if a Master Weaver had patterned the design.
The fabric was so lovely, that no one ever guessed
How underneath the pattern the warp thread held the rest.

Sidelights of Sadness

Being incidents connected with California's State Prisons as observed by A. R. O'Brien, editor of The Republican Press, while chairman of the State Board of Prisons of California

THE PRISONER WHO BURIED HIS LOOT

Police of Los Angeles early got a line on him but, although he operated right along and made large burglarious raids in Beverly Hills and Bell Air Districts, he was not apprehended there. His crime record in Los Angeles assumed the amazing number of 60 burglaries and it is estimated that while the goods he stole were of many times more value than what he got for them in actual cash, in four months in which he raided homes in the southern city he netted in excess of $10,000 from the fences he sold his loot to. When he was pursued too closely by the Los Angeles police, he shifted his scene of operation to San Francisco and, within a week, he had committed five burglaries in the San Francisco metropolitan district but even with this success he had gotten a grouch against the Bay country and, seriously, after he had been apprehended, he told the officers that, perhaps, it was just as well he had gotten caught, as he had decided not to work any more in the San Francisco area, as the fences to whom he sold what he stole, were wolves and would not pay him enough to make it worth while to continue. He had a distinct distaste to being robbed. After he had committed his fifth burglary in San Francisco he was observed by a citizen breaking into a house. The man called the officers and the police reached the scene of the crime and found defendant hiding in a closet on the second floor. In his possession were found a pocket knife with a three-inch blade and a German automatic. He handed the gun over and surrendered without difficulty. Also in his pocket was found a yellow jade ring which he had taken from the home he burglarized.

At the time he was arrested in San Francisco, he must have realized several hundred dollars from sales he had made to fences and he was making 11 dollars a day as a blacksmith yet, in spite of this, he did not have any money. He would not explain what he had done with the many thousands of dollars he had gotten from the sale of the stolen property he was known to have taken from the Beverly Hills homes.

He had a knack of picking out residences to rob that really were producers and he had been doing nothing outside of home robbing, except enough to cover up, in several years' time. He had started in early, and at the time he went to San Quentin he had already been at Whittier and Preston reform schools and he had jail snetences of considerable length standing against him. He was only 25 years of age when he finally went to the penitentiary. While it is natural to take it for granted a thief of this kind did drink, there was nothing to show he was a heavy drinker or that he dissipated his money for liquor. Nothing developed that would indicate he was a gambler. No clue appeared to imply he was a user of drugs. The officers could not connect him up with women and there was nothing to prove he had a cache of any kind. He simply stole a lot of valuable property, sold it to fences for $10,000 and there was not a trace to indicate what had become of it!

The prisoner refused, point-blank, to co-operate with the officers, but he did ask a favor following being convicted—He expressed a desire to be sent to San Quentin, rather than be returned to Los Angeles. This man will probably dummy up and he may keep the secret of where he has buried the money he got from his criminal operations. Still he may have tipped himself off already. Don't you suppose, when the police detectives observed his desire to get into San Quentin, they reasoned he had his loot buried in that part of the country?

Even after doing his time in San Quentin, he may fail to realize on what he had buried. Cops are smart and, it would not be surprising, if there was a notation on the prisoner's narrative asking Los Angeles police be advised, just before he is liberated and, when he is a tail may be placed on him and, some night when he is on his knees digging up what he long ago buried, a cop's voice from behind him may call to him to raise his hands. An officer may scoop up the treasure and he will again be facing a new prison term.

Cops are that way, sometimes.

Mrs. Ann Wenger was up from her home in East Hopland the end of the week to look after her shopping needs.

County News

Comptche is hoping for an extension of P. G. & E. power lines to that vicinity.

If you fail to read The Republican Press you will not get all of the news of Mendocino county.

A non-resident property owner lately set a price on property he owns in Ukiah, worth $40,000, at $100,000. No inflation there.

Mexican Nationals will return here, greater numerically, than they have in the past, next year.

Publisher A. R. O'Brien, of The Republican Press, has been elected President of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

A constantly decreasing number of service stations is noticed about the county.

The Banks of Mendocino County have never shown the deposits they now manifest.

Too many burglaries are occurring in Ukiah and not enough apprehension of criminals is reported.

Several cases of unblushing draft evasion, through the defense line of employment, exists hereabouts and evaders should be informed on.

Only one license plate for California automobiles will be necessary this year.

The Mendocino mill, the first sawmill on the coast, will soon be dismantled.

Influenza, with serious aftermaths, is causing many to stay at home these days.

St. Mary's Catholic church, at Ukiah, is issuing a handsome calendar to its parishioners.

A mill to cut the great body of timber in the Low Gap section is continued to be talked and may be built.

Anderson Valley may set out a large acreage of grapes this spring.

Complaint is heard the City of Ukiah is blocking the sidewalk on South State street and endangering pedestrians by making them walk on the highway.

The Christian congregation has spent a large amount remodeling its church at Ukiah.

A check of Round Valley shows that section has been almost depleted of its young Indian boys—All have gone to war.

It rarely requires more than one insertion of a wantad in The Republican Press to secure satisfactory results.

Returns from the apple harvest show Anderson Valley did well in her apple harvest.

Sheep and stock are doing excellently, reports from the ranges state.

The small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wallett, former Ukiah residents, was badly injured by a truck at Novato recently.

Precipitation is reported to have reached its normal stage for this time of the winter.

Willits Fire Department has added a respiratory machine to its equipment.

Chairman, American Economic Foundation

Are The Bretton Woods Monetary Agreements A Step Toward World Order?

As debated by

Dr. Broadus Mitchell
Economist; Research Director, International Ladies Garment Workers Union

Dr. Lewis H. Haney
Professor of Economics, New York University

DR. MITCHELL OPENS: I make two assumptions: (1) Postwar money will continue to be managed both within nations and as used in exchange between nations. It will have values given it by government, whether the government of a single nation or of many agreeing. The gold piece has a value as a commodity. It may be melted and used in the arts or industry. A piece of paper money, if it cannot be exchanged for gold or silver depends for its value mainly on the decisions of government and banks. The day in which we relied upon gold to give value to money (a primitive arrangement) is left behind. Plans that will be worked out for the currencies of different nations and for the ways in which these currencies will exchange for each other will be built on the use of paper. The nations are coming to believe they can give buying power to money much as they have given it to ration stamps; (2) a peaceful world after this war must be built upon constant deliberate cooperation of all countries. Bretton Woods really dealt with the problem of how to keep all peoples employed in producing wealth and exchanging that wealth within each country and between countries. An effort will be made to set up a machinery whereby money may promote industry, agriculture and commerce, to raise standards of living everywhere.

DR. HANEY CHALLENGES: Dr. Mitchell begs the whole question at issue, when he "assumes" that flat currency will continue in all nations. If this were true, we would have collectivist or "managed" economies, and we might as well have a world state with a world dictator to manage everything. I would admit this! But I deny that the U. S., Great Britain or Russia will ever give any such power to a world organization. The gold standard has worked. It is the only system that ever has. The flat-money people in 1790 and 1815 talked exactly as Dr. Mitchell now does. Yet sound money came back. It will again.

DR. MITCHELL REPLIES: The gold standard, Dr. Haney, had the failing it did not work. All nations discarded it. After the war all nations must take in trade the goods of other nations. We do not become poorer because goods flow to us from abroad in exchange for those which we produce more cheaply in surplus quantity. We are enriched. Wealth is in goods resulting from steady full production and from easy exchange. The plans about money must have as their whole objective the promotion of this kind of wealth if the world's nations are again to prosper and live in peace.

DR. HANEY OPENS: The Bretton Woods conference did not result in any "agreement", and cannot properly be called "monetary". The delegates can do nothing but "report" to their respective nations. (Those nations have such divergent interests that they will join in no effective arrangement.) The whole conference concerned CREDIT, not money. It concerned loans, investments and managed credit currencies. Furthermore, the main objectives are to "create full employment" and to "raise standards of living" throughout the world—a world New Deal. Accordingly, the means are too radical and idealistic to be a step toward world order. They are: (1) economically unsound loans and "investments", at (2) artificially low interest rates, the credit being based on (3) a managed paper currency, subject to (4) frequent devaluations. (The insolvency of England, with her billions of "blocked" pounds and frozen dollar obligations, is to be supported.) The scheme is to make loans which existing banks would not, and which the borrowing country could not, afford. (Keynes) Devaluation of currencies by member nations is permitted and encouraged. No monetary standards are provided. It is openly stated that the scheme is the opposite of a gold standard. No freely-determined pars of exchange among the nations' currencies could exist. Thus world order would be prevented—unless by coercion and world force.

DR. MITCHELL CHALLENGES: Dr. Haney must realize no one country, or group, can profit long at the expense of others. The decade before this war proves that if a single country tries to get a trade advantage to the injury of its neighbors, that country hurts itself. Other countries follow the same selfish policy and trade is strangled. The result: each country, having shut itself off from the exchange of wealth with foreigners, is driven to rely more and more on its own resources—probably inadequate. One or both of two results follow: the country impoverishes its own people or reaches out for more territory. This means military aggression which has brought world-wide war.

DR. HANEY REPLIES: The world as a whole cannot prosper unless and until the several nations prosper. The nations cannot prosper unless they have a convenient and stable standard of value, really accepted by all, which will allow (1) private enterprise and investment at home, and (2) equilibrium of exchange in foreign trade. We are not going to tolerate either a national dictator or a world dictator. (Ration stamps we will not stand for except in war and depression.) The only way to establish peace and free trade is to adopt a standard of value which all men can and will accept freely.

Making a Fresh Start

MAKING a fresh start in life is not a matter of place or time. Very frequently, the desire to begin over again arises from the feeling that somehow we seem to have missed grasping life's deeper meaning, including our own relationship to it. And the conviction that personal or business affairs are becoming more and more discordant or unsatisfying gives support to this feeling. What, we may ask, is to be done about the matter? Surely we are entitled to go forward at all times, and to enjoy in ever-increasing measure our divine right to happiness, freedom, and plenty.

For the answer to this query, we need but turn to the words and works of Christ Jesus. Again and again did this great Teacher endeavor to make plain to those who wished to share in the blessing of his ministry, the fact that healing and salvation would be found in the degree that a spiritualized and demonstrable understanding of God was acquired. But to acquire this understanding, he insisted, mortals must be prepared to relinquish material beliefs and evil thinking, which cannot comprehend God, Spirit. In words unparalleled in their scope and emphasis, he declared (John 3:3), "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God."

Spiritual renewal, then, is a prerequisite to entrance into the kingdom of God. In other words, in order to bring divine good into our present experience, our thinking needs to undergo a change of base, that it may accept the fact of spiritual reality as constituting the truth in every situation and circumstance. This implies becoming ever more conscious that the real man exists spiritually, not materially. The Master made very clear the absolute necessity of gaining a newborn sense of existence when he added, "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit" (John 3:6). That is to say, material thinking is mortal, and its consequences are discord and mortality. Per contra, spiritual thinking is of Spirit, and the fruitage thereof is harmony and immortality. Spiritual understanding is the activity of divine intelligence and wisdom, bringing the loveliness and glory of real being to light.

Thus we see that making a fresh start is not a matter of place or of time. The kind of thinking that has brought about a sense of defeat and despair in one place is very likely, if uncorrected, to bring about the same result in another place. Nor is the human element of time sufficient of itself to improve our experience, since mistakes ignorantly made one day may all unwittingly be repeated the next. As Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, points out in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 201): "We cannot build safely on false foundations. Truth makes a new creature, in whom old things pass away and 'all things are become new.'" Obviously, any mere reshuffling of our thinking on the same old materialistic basis must always prove unavailing.

Selfishness, personal hostility, impatience, greed, "that which is born of the flesh," can but lead to moral and physical inharmony. On the other hand, in the rebirth of our thinking to conform to the pattern of genuine being, we are laying claim to our God-bestowed heritage of spiritual dominion. . . .—The Christian Science Monitor.

NAGGING BACKACHE
May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action. Don't Neglect It!

Modern life with its ceaseless hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking, exposure, contagion whatnot, keeps doctors busy, hospitals crowded. The after effects are disturbing to the kidneys and oftentimes people suffer without knowing that disordered kidney action may cause the trouble.

After colds, fever and similar ills there is an increase of body impurities the kidneys must filter from the blood. If the kidneys are overtaxed and fail to remove excess acid and other harmful waste, there is poisoning of the whole system.

Symptoms of disturbed kidney function may be nagging backache, persistent headache, dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of strength and energy. Other signs of kidney or bladder disturbance sometimes are burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide approval than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. They have been winning new friends for more than forty years. Be sure to get Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

THE REASON DOAN'S ARE FAMOUS
All over the country grateful people tell others: "Doan's have helped me; I recommend them to you." That is why we say, Ask your neighbor!

LITTLE HINTS FOR EASY BREAKFASTS

Cereals may be measured out the night before, ready to cook upon the addition of water. When cooked in milk they have added nutritional value as well as a different flavor.
Using brown sugar instead of white on cereals gives them a new flavor. Molasses for sweetening is very good, and if eggs are scarce, it helps make up for the iron we would normally get from them.
A crispness and added flavor is given to ready-to-serve cereals if heated in a moderate oven (375° F.) a few minutes before serving.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pickle and Geo. W. Pickle were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe R. Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Brooks and son, Clifford, returned from San Francisco Friday evening. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Brooks' aunt, who returned home the following day.

PUT YOUR FINGER DOWN ON THIS SABOTEUR OF HEALTH...Keep on top of the "flu" germ this winter. He is going about nipping folks these cold and wet wintry days. Don't let him sabotage your health and cost you time and money on your important job these war days.

When you go out of doors this winter—dress in warm, dry, weather-type clothing. But if you should come home cold and wet, change at once to warm dry clothing. At the first symptom of a cold, doctor-up and climb into bed. Get the advice of a nurse or doctor and get well and keep well.

It would be a good idea, too, to see that your home heating equipment is working efficiently and economically. Use heat wisely. Do not overheat and waste fuel. Keep windows and doors and fireplace openings closed to prevent heat loss.

Little Things About the Stars

By GEORGE LILLEY

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Kate Smith continually astonishes throat specialists. She does everything that is supposed to harm her voice without affecting it the slightest. She sings 30 to 40 songs at camp shows, drinks ice cold water as a quencher while the specialists yell "no, No, NO!" She bobsleds and skis at Lake Placid most of the winter — ruinous, supposedly, to a singing voice. But Kate goes on as smoothly as ever. September 17 will start her 15th year on the radio (CBS)—and she's never missed a broadcast.

Kate Smith . . . forgets rules

Sideliner: Bing Crosby, aside from the Del Mar race track, owns a lead mine, a silver mine, an oil field, several music publishing houses and has big cuts in his own movie studio and Decca records. A full size office building named "Bing Crosby, Inc., directed by his brother Everett, handles the Crosby affairs.

SONG CENSORS

One of the networks has barred the lyrics to the song "Body and Soul." Also taboo is the tune "Take Me." But bands can play the songs if they use no vocals. For a while the words of "You and the Night and the Music" were ruled out because of the phrase "filled my heart with flaming desire." And a section of the lyrics of "Beyond the Blue Horizon" has been changed so the lovers await a "setting sun," rather than "rising sun!"

* * *

They laughed when a vitamin outfit sponsored Frank Sinatra on the radio. But Frank is a tough little guy. He once licked two fellows in Tommy Dorsey's orchestra. He was rated the scrappiest guy in the Dorsey band (well, next to Tommy).

FIFTY DOLLAR DATES

Bandleader Glen Gray's real name is Arthur Knoblock. Can you imagine: "Arthur Knoblock and his Casa Loma Orchestra?"

Don McNeill . . . too easy

. . . No wonder that air program, "Blind Date," gets such swell blind dates for its contestants. The gals are paid $50—to go out with a nice GI and dine and drink at the Stork Club! It's a windfall for models and young actresses . . . First musical pair to become outright comedians: Ozzie Nelson and Harriet Hilliard. They'll be a kind of young-set Fibber McGee and Molly on the radio in the fall. A reverse to actors Buddy Rogers and Roger Pryor, who became bandleaders . . . In contrast to Jack Benny, the worrying type of comedian who seldom smiles off his program, is Don McNeill, the "Breakfast Club" funster He's the spontaneous type, as amusing off his show as on. But the naturally funny men seem to make less money at it.

VERY LITTLE THINGS

Twelve of 15 men in Woody Herman's Orchestra, heard Wednesday nights on CBS with Allan Jones, figured out they are making more money than their hometown bank presidents . . . Kay Kyser's first name is James . . . Clem McCarthy, the NBC sportscaster, won't go on the air without his pre-broadcast drink: Ginger ale with the oil squeezed from two slivers of lemon peels . . . Morton Downey, the Blue network tenor, never saw Ireland until he became famous as an Irish tenor. He once was billed as "Direct from Ireland." Downey was born in Wallingford, Conn., and raised in Brooklyn.

Allan Jones . . . nice company

the board to release him so he might enlist in the Air Corps, but could not secure the release, so must await a call. Since his father's death last year he has been operating the home ranch in this valley.

Weather Was Bad.

Mrs. Eph Turner and brother, K. B. Wallach, were recent business visitors in San Francisco and ran into some very disagreeable weather there.

Killed Big Eagles.

Russell A. Tolman killed two extremely large eagles, one on Tuesday and another the following day, on the George W. Johnson ranch near Boonville, on what was formerly the Dillingham place. Both eagles had a wing spread of seven feet, with powerful claws, capable of carrying off good-sized lambs, and they have probably been feasting on the early lambs in the Johnson flock.

Evaded Traps.

Traps were tried for the eagles but were not successful. Both were brought down by a rifle shot at 150 yards. Eagles have for years preyed on flocks in this section and judging from the size of these birds they have lived a long time.

Heard From Son.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Willis were relieved to receive a letter from their son, Staff Sergeant Porter Willis, Friday, from Leyte where he is with the airborne troops. When last they had heard he had suffered a hand injury that prevented him writing and a friend had written for him. The injury was laid to an argument with a pocket knife, but later news makes one wonder. He mentioned news reports said fighting on Leyte is over, but that he had seen close Japanese airborne troops who made the mistake of landing where they were promptly taken care of. He also tells of being out of the jungle and mud for the first time in 30 days and of having a fine New Year's dinner, complete even to hot rolls. His friends will be glad to learn his hand injury was not of a permanent nature, whether from a pocket knife or a Jap engagement.

Sold Their Home.

Mr. and Mrs. K. B. Wallach have sold their place in Boonville that is at present being used as a dwelling and Telephone office, to Mr. and Mrs. J. Bone, of Petaluma, who will take possession July first. Mrs. Bone is an experienced beauty parlor operator of years standing and will open her shop here, while Mr. Bone, who is a plumber, sheet-metal worker and electrician, will enter that business. Both should do well in this valley.

Mrs. Vernon Rawles returned Sunday from Westport, where she had passed several days with her mother, Mrs. White.

Attended Ukiah Lodge.

Ed Hogan, A. B. Willis, H. F. Mathison, Prof. J. R. Wilson and B. C. Gowan were Ukiah visitors Saturday evening to attend the I. O. O. F. installation.

Boonville Ticket Agency.

The Mendocino Transit Company has opened a ticket agency in Boonville at Wiese's Ice Cream Parlor. Mr. Wiese's has been the regular bus stop in Boonville, and will now be an agency as well. This will be an added convenience for Anderson Valley residents, as they can now purchase tickets or receive information on bus schedules at any time.

Clair Field was here recently for a visit with his mother, Mrs. B. M. Field, before leaving Oakland for a camp in Maryland.

Have A Boy.

A boy was born Mr. and Mrs. Carl Carlson, of Anderson Valley, January 11, in the Healdsburg Hospital. The new son will be named Ray Carl.

Jack June Writes.

Staff Sergeant Jack W. June, son of Judge and Mrs. H. J. June, received a very nice present Christmas day when he was promoted to Technical Sergeant. He is in charge of surveying and at present is working on roads. In a letter to the J. T. Farrers he writes of the improvement of the climate as the season changes. In the past he has worn hip boots in his road making, and also tells of Jap raids at night and of 40 planes being shot down in one night and of the opening up of the anti-aircraft that left the sky red with tracers. He enclosed two pieces of Jap invasion currency, printed in English, used in the Philippines.

Some Chicken Pox Here.

A few cases of chicken pox have been reported in the valley.

Mrs. Hazel Nobles, teacher at Anderson Union School, has been appointed head of the Infantile Paralysis drive in this valley, which commences January 13.

From The Coast.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lawson, of Point Arena, were valley visitors Saturday while enroute home from Ukiah.

Read Funeral Rite.

Rev. Oscar Gibson was here Saturday to officiate at the final services for the late Marion Ornbaun, of Cloverdale, and made the trip from the southern part of the state to keep a promise made his old friend he would be here to say the final rites for him when his time came. Rev. Gibson is pastor of a large church at Corcoran. He is a former pastor of the Anderson Valley Methodist Church and served here in 1921. Some years later he was pastor at Cloverdale. Mrs. C. W. Finney and Mrs. M. Bellport, of Cloverdale, accompanied Rev. Gibson here for the services Saturday. Rev. Gibson holds a place in the hearts of the people of this valley seldom accorded any man. He is always assured a warm welcome from Valley people. Mrs. Gibson and their two small daughters were unable to accompany Rev. Gibson but, when conditions improve, they hope to get up here for a visit.

Went To Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Rowley and sons, Arthur and Bobby, returned Friday from a trip to Duchesne, Iowa, their former home and where they still own property, that being the reason for the trip at this time. They had applied for train tickets and were told their only chance was, if someone cancelled their reservations. Christmas day a compartment was cancelled and they were notified and left that night. Mr. Rowley, who is in the trucking business, has kept in touch with his interests here by long distance during his absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Field were called to Sonoma Friday by the death of Mrs. Field's brother, George Miller, in a car crash January 11. He had been in the Navy the past two years. His ship was in port and he had a shore leave and had visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Miller, at Sonoma, and had gone back to his ship to arrange for a 30-day leave. The accident occurred between Vallejo and Sonoma. He is thought to have dropped asleep and the car ran into a tree, killing him. Mr. Miller had escaped injury at sea, although he has been in all the major engagements in the Pacific. The family had planned a reunion for Sunday last, as other members of the family had not seen him since his return and a sister from Ukiah and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Field from here had planned to go down. George Miller was about 21. He completed his schooling, both grammar and high school in Ukiah, and entered the Navy on leaving high school. The family lived for a short time, several years ago, at Navarro, later moving to the Ukiah district.

Second Family Fatality.

This is the second fatal accident in the family, as a young daughter was killed in a car accident near Calpella some years ago. Mr. Miller is understood to have been engaged to a young lady in Washington, who was on her way south to meet him and it is thought they planned to be married during his leave. He was given a military funeral in Ukiah Monday. Mrs. Field and other members of her family have sympathy of her many friends here.

Buried In Ukiah.

A guard of honor from the U. S. Navy accompanied the body to Ukiah and remained over for the services which were held Monday at 2 p.m. from Eversole Mortuary in charge of Rev. Leonard Brown. Pallbearers were members of Lewis White Post, American Legion, and were Walter Sandelin, Herman Runkel, Fred Figone, Rober. Jardine, Don Alexander and Joe Bowen.

room had been beautifully decorated with fir and a cluster of bells, by Dallas Winters and Eunice Jamison, and it was here May Williamson and Leslie Conner exchanged vows. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Banks. The bride was dressed in a dark suit and looked charming. After the ceremony, refreshments of punch, dainty sandwiches, cake and coffee were served. The decorated wedding cake was made by Mrs. Harold Palmer, of Oakland, and other cakes were made by Mrs. Charles Lovell, Mrs. Joe Williamson and Mrs. Caleb Brush.

To Live Here.

Mr. and Mrs. Conner left soon after for an undisclosed destination. After a short honeymoon they will return and make their home in the Ed Long house on Commercial avenue.

A Popular Pair.

The happy couple are well known and justly popular in this community and all wish them much happiness and success in this new walk of life they have entered.

Now At Home.

Mrs. Maude Goforth returned to Covelo Wednesday from Willits where she has been visiting over the holidays with her daughters, Mrs. Zenith Harpe and Mrs. Myrtle Morrison and their families. Mrs. Goforth made the trip home with Claude Rose, of Willits, State trapper, who transacted business in Covelo Wednesday.

They Saw Specialists.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hurt, Lige Vann and Lewis Hurt went to San Francisco last week. Lewis Hurt and Lige Vann consulted specialists, the one for trouble with his back and the other for defective vision.

EVEN TO THE YOUNGEST—Arms and back stricken with infantile paralysis, this eight-months-old baby received modern care and treatment at the Crippled Children's Guild, Buffalo, N.Y., through the assistance of the Steuben County Chapter of The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. America's contributions to the March of Dimes, January 14-31, make this work possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Niesen and sons passed the Holiday at Elk Creek with Mr. Niesen's parents.

Lloyd Brown is in town from his ranch on Buck Mountain.

Wed In Willits.

Robert Harpe, son of Mrs. Zenith Harpe, of Willits, and Dolores Diamond, also of Willits, were married in the Methodist chuch at that place on Christmas day, Rev. Hagarty officiating. Miss Dorothy Rothspack sang "I Love You Truly," after which Mrs. Lawson played the Wedding March from "Lohengrin" as the bridal party entered. The young couple was attended by Eugene Harpe, brother of the groom and Gloria Diamond, sister of the bride. When the bridal pair came out of church they were met with a "surprise" shower of rice from which they emerged, continuing their way to the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Zenith Harpe, who served a wedding dinner to 17 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Harpe left that evening by bus for a short honeymoon in San Francisco. Robert Harpe is a grandson of Mrs. Maude Goforth and nephew of Ted Goforth of Covelo.

Weekend Guests.

Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Hart and Captain and Mrs. L. T. Thompson, of San Francisco, visited over the New Year weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brown, of Covelo.

Visited In Oakland.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Long and children and Mrs. Clyde Hopper passed the Holidays in Oakland with Mrs. Long's parents and with Mrs. Mabel McCarthy, aunt of the Longs and sister of Mrs. Hopper.

Here Last Week.

Fred Wilson, Jr., S2/c, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson, sisters and brother, in Covelo last week. Fred is in the United States Naval Training Center at San Diego and this was his first visit home since he went away in September.

Were With Sons.

A family reunion took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Niesen in Covelo on New Year's when Chester Niesen, brother of Bud Niesen, who has been serving Uncle Sam in the Medical Corps in the United States Army, returned home on furlough after three years in India, Burma and China. He came to Elk Creek and with his parents, brother Orley and wife and children, sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Crouch, Margaret Ann Crouch, Buddy Smith and wife, these last of Willows, came to Covelo to join his brother, Bud and family. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence O'Ferrall, parents of Mrs. Bud Niesen, were also of the party. They all enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner and that evening decided to go out to Williams Valley to see Mrs. Niesen's brother, Cleo O'Ferrall and family and to hold a party to watch the old year out and the new year in. As it had been storming, they found the creek too high to cross with their automobiles, so Cleo O'Ferrall met them at that place with wagon and tractor and, with much hilarity, the journey was completed in this manner. During the evening refreshments were served by Mrs. O'Ferrall and a very happy time came to an end.

Mrs. George Cleveland and children were in town from their Willits home Saturday. Mr. Cleveland is an engineer on the Willits run north on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad and has been with the company many years. The Cleveland family is one of the pioneer people of the county.

"Future Farmers of America" make America's future look bright!

With their country at war, the thousands of school boys of the 7000 chartered local chapters of "Future Farmers of America" have made a spectacular contribution to Victory. By raising chickens, turkeys, cattle, sheep and other livestock...by planting, cultivating and reaping farm crops...by such diverse activities as developing better fruit orchards and more humane methods of trapping wild animals for furs, they have furnished many millions of dollars worth of vitally needed supplies to the war effort. And, in doing this, they have developed initiative, stamina and character that will stand this country (and the world!) in good stead in the postwar years.

What Is Asked.

This proposed new extension would by-pass the business section of Sausalito, provide a straight shoot to the present State highway at Waldo Point, never rise higher than 257 feet and have an average grade of less than four percent. It will be called the Golden Gate Freeway, Northern Approach, but whatever its name, the need for it is clear to everyone in the Redwood Empire.

It Has Many Defects.

The districts served by the Golden Gate Bridge constitute one of the most important of the nation's war areas and the Bridge is an essential link in the movement of war material and personnel, workers and products for both military and civilian use. The efficiency of the bridge has been hampered for years by the present Waldo Approach in Marin county which has a steep six percent grade and is dangerous in foggy weather and subject to rock slides. Its summit is 608 feet, or 366 feet above the bridge level, and that factor slows the movement of motor vehicles, increases wear and tear on them, as well as the cost of moving products from the North Bay area. The only alternative route is a Sausalito Lateral which moves with many turns on steep grades and is inadequate for wartime traffic now and will be inadequate for the greatly increased traffic after the war.

What Is Asked.

The Golden Gate Bridge District officials supported by constituent counties propose that a new lateral be constructed to provide a straight shoot to and from the bridge and connect with the present highway at Waldo Point. This will be a low level highway of less than three percent grade and it should be constructed without levying a special tax on the Golden Gate Bridge District. After all, the bridge is a part of the state and national highway system, actually, and it should be made a part of the system of primary highways of the State. The Golden Gate Bridge receives no State financial assistance, but nevertheless the Bridge is as much a part of the State highway system as any bridge in the state and the proposed lateral should be a State project financed by the state and built by it. A strong delegation representing the bridge district, the Redwood Empire and boards of supervisors in the area will present arguments for this essential improvement to the State Highway Commission tomorrow—and the Commissioners will learn that every interest in the Redwood Empire is 100 percent behind the delegations.

LOTS OF FOLKS blow off steam writing letters to the editor. The editor likes to know what the folks think, too.

But there's one kind no editor has much use for. That's anonymous letters. If a man's got something to say, let him sign it. Otherwise, into the waste-basket it goes.

Same as you expect the honest manufacturer to be proud to put his name on his product to show he's willing to stand behind it.

tool shed at the rear of the jail. Finding all the doors of the tool shed locked, Mr. Campbell then dug under one of the large doors and made his escape. He was taken back and locked in one of the cells, where he will be safe.

Had To Quit.

Mrs. Mamie Knight went out of the furniture business Saturday and her stock of furniture and furnishings have been sold to a Ukiah firm. Four months ago Mrs. Knight started business in what used to be the Hotel Van restaurant and was doing very well, but the premises have now been leased to the J. C. Penney Company. Mrs. Knight was unable to find another suitable location and was forced out of business. The Penney Company has been dissatisfied with its location some time, but they were tied up with a long lease which has now expired. The old quarters were dark and crowded and in the new location will be able to expand and display stock to advantage. They intend to make their Willits store one of the best in this part of the state.

Sold Timber Holdings.

Last week the Irvine & Muir Company sold its Redwood Creek timber holdings to P. W. Daniels and John S. Ross, Jr. This tract is located a few miles from Irmulco, adjacent to the Fort Bragg railroad. The tract contains about 5,000,000 feet of virgin redwood. Mr. Ross is a local timber man and Mr. Daniels comes from the coast section where he is well known. Messrs. Ross and Daniels will begin logging operations on this tract as soon as possible. They expect to ship all their logs to Willits by rail and sell them to local mills, which have had difficulty getting the logs they need. Thus the operation will be profitable to both the loggers and to local mills.

To Change Method.

Garbage disposal was the principal subject discussed at the regular meeting of the city council last week. A plan is now being worked out for the city to sign an exclusive contract with some responsible party to collect the garbage. Heretofore numerous people have undertaken the job and quit. The business does not warrant several people trying to do one man's work.

Policeman Quits.

Police Officer Frank Butts has tendered his resignation to take effect February 1. His successor has not yet been selected.

He Likes The Column As One Goes Around

From a great many places come words of approval of the column, "As One Goes Around." Tuesday, H. H. Mitten, of Rancho Mariposa, called and very graciously expressed approval of the little stories that are run weekly. There is no literary boast made for this column. It reflects simply situations a newspaper man has come upon while working many places throughout his life. One thing claimed for them, however, is—They are true and human.
